IT'S GO TIME.
Sign up for New Student Orientation
MAKE YOUR NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION RESERVATION

NSO is required for all new students. Choose your NSO date at fye.indiana.edu for the June/July program. Make your reservation ASAP for the most date options.

Can’t make it to Bloomington this summer? You’ll get information about our August program in the NSO reservation system. Remember, you won’t be able to register for classes until you attend NSO.
At New Student Orientation (NSO) this summer, you’ll kick off your own Hoosier experience by exploring campus, connecting with other students, and registering for classes. Don’t worry—you won’t have to go it alone. Our staff will guide you along the way.

Get a taste of your new life as an official IU HOOSIER
BOOKMARK YOUR CONFIRMATION PAGE

When you choose your NSO date, you’ll also:

- Confirm your intended major
- Tell us if you’ll need disability assistance
- Answer some questions to help your advisor better guide you

Remember, as the new student, you need to be the one to make your reservation.

Read your online confirmation.

After you’ve made your reservation, you’ll see a confirmation page with tons of useful info. You can access this page anytime to find:

- Things you need to do before NSO (like taking required tests)
- Details about travel, parking, meals, and accommodations (including special hotel deals for your family)

Oh, and you can bring a guest.

Parents and family are an important part of your IU experience, so we have a program just for them. They’ll find out how they can help you make the jump into college life and learn how IU supports your success.

Designate a parent or guardian on your reservation to allow them to see your NSO confirmation page and get updates.

What’s it cost?

You will see the Orientation/First Year Experience fee of $210 on your first IU bill in the fall. Your NSO program, including lunch and dinner on Day 1, parking, and up to two guests, is included in this IU fee.
GET READY

Here’s what you need to know to make the most of NSO:

Take care of your checklist.

Use your FYE Checklist in the NSO reservation system to organize your required online tasks, like placement exams, MyStudentBody, MoneySmarts, and iGPS. (It’s okay if you don’t know what those are yet. You will soon.) You can save your checklist progress anytime.

Make your travel plans (but not yet).

Wait until you’ve made your NSO reservation to make travel plans, since dates will vary for each student.

Stay on campus for NSO.

We don’t want you to miss a thing. If you stay on campus, you’ll be where the action is—including our popular NSO Late Nite. Check your confirmation for more details about housing options for you and hotel options for your guests.

Watch the mail.

About three weeks before your confirmed NSO reservation date, you’ll get a packet via U.S. Mail with important details and an NSO parking pass. Review this packet carefully, watch your email, and check your online confirmation for last-minute updates.

BEYOND NSO: YOUR FIRST YEAR

NSO is just the beginning. From Welcome Week in August to our year-long Hoosier Experience program to the IU Bicentennial celebration, we will connect you with resources and events for a historic first year. Learn more at fye.indiana.edu.